JEFFREY ZANK HAS BEEN APPROVED TO TEACH UORRA

Albuquerque, New Mexico (August 16, 2019) – I'm proud to announce that the New Mexico Real Estate Commission (NMREC) Education Advisory Committee (EAC) has approved Jeff (hey, that's me) as instructor to teach the Uniform Owner Resident Relations Act class (UORRA). The UORRA is effectively the law governing Residential Property Management here in New Mexico. Jeff's class is for 6 CE hours for attending students. The UORRA is a required class for all licenses that declare themselves as Property Managers in New Mexico - class due each license renewal cycle. His class includes review of UORRA, powerpoint learning review as well as several real case studies.

This is the first NMREC EAC class I've applied to teach. Look for other classes in the residential property management area in the future. I have a passion for residential property management and look forward to being able to provide CEs / Education to others in the industry.

I have over 10 years of experience in the real estate industry in residential property management throughout the Albuquerque metropolitan area. My commitment is to provide outstanding customer service, maximizing profit for customers while maintaining a growing, successful/profitable business all making a difference in customer's lives. Guided by a strong set of values, I am committed to ensuring that these characterize all interactions with industry peers, customers, vendors, and residents. I work together with industry peers, customers, vendors and residents as a team player, striving to deliver innovative and entrepreneurial assistance, clearly expressed through open communication. I make every effort to share a sense of enthusiasm and fun while striving to continually deliver excellence to industry peers, customers, vendors and residents.
